

Award-winning author showcases previously published and prize-winning stories

Gritty, bruising and poignant writing

Award-winning author Amra Pajalić is publishing her eclectic short story collection The Cuckoo's Song featuring previously published and prize-winning stories. This collection features stories Pajalić has written over the past two decades and are the map that reveal her growth and evolution as an author. Delving into familiar themes of family dissolution, deprivation of war, tenderness of family and the heart-rending experiences of mental illness, Pajalić also moves into new territory with previously unpublished thriller stories.

Many stories are extracts of her previously published novels such as Suicide Watch which features her protagonist Sabiha in a scene cut from her award-winning debut novel The Good Daughter. Also included are previously published stand-alone pieces that became her memoir Things Nobody Knows But Me, that was shortlisted for the 2020 National Biography Award.
